We know the power of the Living God in our lives, yet what do we make of the suffering and evil that often plague us? In this Lay School of Theology, we will explore that nature of the Living God and the challenges we face from the powers and principalities that surround us (including the pandemic experience from which the true God has redeemed us one more time), which we could call “death-dealing gods.”